MEET SARAJEVO

Sarajevo, the crossroad of civilizations stands as a testament to the harmony of diverse cultures. Steeped in rich history, it uniquely combines the echoes of past civilizations and different historical periods, creating a welcoming environment for all. The soulful Baščarsija, with its cobbled pathways and bustling bazaars, serves as a nostalgic reminder of times long past. Yet, amidst this historical panorama, Sarajevo also presents a modern and progressive face.

The city is home to world-class infrastructure aptly suited for MICE activities. The renowned Hotel Hills, with its capacities, offers a seamless blend of quality and convenience. Similarly, international hotel chains such as Marriott, Accor, and Arjaan by Rotana enhance the city's hospitality portfolio, ensuring global standards for all seats. Catering to discerning travelers, this destination is equipped with 31 hotels rated at 4* and 5*, comprising a generous 2,911 rooms. Event organizers looking for grand spaces will be impressed by the city's largest convention center hall in the country, which has been built next to the Hotel Hills, Sarajevo. With a capacity of 5,000 seats, it is already bolstering the reputation of Hotel Hills and Hollywood as potential congress destinations operating within this group. The Hall can accommodate 3,900 attendees in a theater-style arrangement or 1,650 in a banquet setting. In addition to hosting business conferences and formal ceremonies, the Hall can accommodate basketball, handball, and other sporting events.

Sarajevo's iconic venues like the meticulously restored City Hall and the prestigious National Theater offer spaces that can transform any event into a historic experience. These venues, rich in character, add an unmatched aura to both formal and informal gatherings.

Efficiency is at the core of Sarajevo's urban experience. The city's public transportation system is not only economical but also reliable. For those preferring more private modes, taxis are readily available and surprisingly affordable. Furthermore, Sarajevo's airport, with its robust connectivity to major global hubs, ensures that the city is easily accessible to the international community. Bike rental is another convenient option to use to discover the city.

Yet, what truly sets Sarajevo apart from MICE seats is its ambiance. The harmonious juxtaposition of the Gazi Husrev-beg Mosque with the Serbian Orthodox Cathedral and the Sacred Heart Cathedral paints a picture of unity in diversity. After a day of meetings, attendees can immerse themselves in the city's dynamic arts and nightlife. Whether it's the allure of the globally recognized Sarajevo Film Festival or the authentic charm of local eateries serving traditional delicacies, there's something in Sarajevo for every palate.

MEET BANJA LUKA

Banja Luka, often referred to as “The Green City of the Balkans”, boasts a rich tapestry woven from centuries of diverse influences. The city, cradled by the Vrbas River, exudes a charm that’s reminiscent of the medieval era, while simultaneously embracing the vibrancy of contemporary Europe. At its heart lies the Kastel fortress, an emblematic relic that whispers tales of ancient civilizations and their legacy.

Modern-day Banja Luka is not just about historic allure. The city is fast emerging as a MICE hub, equipped with world-class facilities tailored to global expectations. The presence of the Marriott Hotel is a testament to this, offering opulent settings coupled with unparalleled service. Alongside, local establishments further amplify the city’s hospitality caliber, promising both luxury and authenticity.

In terms of venues, Banja Luka presents an array of options each enriched with its character. From the stately confines of the Cultural Center “Banski dvor” to the artistic ambiance of the National Theater, every event here is poised to leave an indelible mark.

Navigating the city is a breeze, thanks to its efficient public transportation system. Those in search of more personalized options will find taxis to be not just abundant but also pocket-friendly. Its strategic proximity to other European city centers, like Zagreb and Belgrade, the city airport coupled with commendable road networks, ensures that Banja Luka remains well-connected and easily accessible.

However, the true essence of Banja Luka lies in its soul. The harmonious coexistence of landmarks like the Serbian Orthodox Church of Christ the Savior and the Ferhat Pasha Mosque narrates a story of unity amidst diversity. Post-business hours, delegates can indulge in the city’s eclectic nightlife, savor its culinary delights, or simply drift on a Dajak, soaking in the serene beauty of the Vrbas. Indeed, Banja Luka, with its blend of the old and new, promises a MICE experience like no other.

The fortress known as the “Old Town” stands as one of Bosnia and Herzegovina’s most exquisite and well-preserved medieval strongholds, showcasing distinctive characteristics from various historical periods. While historical records do not provide information on the exact year, duration of construction, or the builder of the fortress, historians generally concur that it was constructed in the latter half of the 14th or the initial half of the 15th century. Although there is speculation that King Tvrtko II Kotromanić may have been the builder based on construction indicators, some historians propose King Stefan Dabiša as a possible candidate.

Above the town of Trebinje, prominent elevation stands adorned by the Church and the Hercegovačka Gračanica Temple. Positioned on this elevation, the temple acts as a guardian over the city, cleansing the air and pacifying earthly plagues. This sacred place sends forth prayers for the well-being, health, and joy of Herzegovina's residents. Serving as a radiant lamp before the city's icon, it illuminates the night, becoming an architectural prayer to God and His angels. The renowned Serbian poet and diplomat, Jovan Dučić, finds his final resting place in the Church of the Annunciation, Hercegovačka Gračanica, situated on Crkvina Hill. Representing the third replica of Gračanica from Kosovo within a modern Serbian church, Crkvina Hill, located in the eastern part of Trebinje, has historically been a site of pilgrimage and tranquillity. Within the complex there is also a bell tower, episcope court, amphitheater, souvenir shop, and summer restaurant 'Dučić's View'. With time, Gračanica has also become popular for wedding ceremonies.
